

- Tania Bruguera just launched a new yearlong project with Creative Time and the Queens Museum ▶ of Art. Immigrant Movement International is billed as an “artist-initiated socio-political movement.” Bruguera has set up a storefront space in Corona, Queens, known for having one of the most diverse immigrant populations in the U.S. She plans to engage with local and international communities, social service organizations, elected officials and artists whose works address immigration reform. The inaugural event was held on Apr. 23 and featured conversations with artists, scholars and curators, including Mel Chin, Nato Thompson, Tom Finkelpearl and Claire Bishop.
